

EDUCATIONAL CO-RESPONSIBILITY AGREEMENT

The relationship between school and family is based on the Educational Pact, through which the education alliance is built with parents made up of constant collaboration in respect of reciprocal roles.

The “Educational Co-Responsibility Agreement”

Chatterbox is a unique educational reality of its kind in Sardinia that offers families a multilingual school curriculum (from the English monolingualism of nursery and kindergarten which switches to primary school multilingualism Italian/English/French/Chinese) inserted firmly in the Italian culture, starting from the methodology on which it draws inspiration and ending with the recognition of the Ministry of Education.

The educational pact that Chatterbox makes with families therefore represents in some ways a challenge since the educational project and the proposed objectives certainly represent a very challenging path for all children. Chatterbox promotes and offers an educational style that has as its primary objective the formation of an independent child, who is sure of his/her ability and therefore happy and confident in tackling the proposed path and managing the tools that are necessary for him/her to have a profitable future, both in scholastic growth and future working opportunities.

The ideal path that Chatterbox offers to families includes attendance from one to two years in Nursery to accompany the child until they enter the Kindergarten. The "Chatterbox English School" preschool provides two or three years in the Movers section followed by a year in the Reception class, a fundamental link with the “Chatterbox Primary” school. This path guarantees the objectives in the Pact of Educational co-responsibility between Chatterbox and families which expresses mutual commitments aimed at achieving the educational success of each pupil. With it:

the school is committed to:

- providing a serene and positive educational environment, favouring the growth of the whole child, involving his intelligence, his affectivity, his personality and responsibility;
- ensuring that each school worker relates to each child with respect, attention and awareness of one's responsibility and authority according to a common educational, empathetic and helpful style;
- supporting the child in his learning path and in situations of discomfort or difficulty, personalizing the didactic proposal in order to favour the educational success of each pupil;
- carrying out the planned disciplinary curriculum effectively and completely and making the educational, methodological and planning choices expressed in the P.T.O.F.;
